

ore reward. B: signed visual-salience evidence; positive values mean T1 was more salient. C: choice proportions with 95% Wilson confidence intervals. Stars above ct test. D: cumulative probability of choosing the high-salience target, shown overall and by condition. E: individual saccadic reaction times and medians; the brackets identity stay/switch as a function of previous reward; the title reports the permutation correlation. Stars use FDR-adjusted q-values where a family correction is available.