

both curve is a logistic regression fitted to unbinned real choices; its slope tests whether signed salience predicts T1 selection. B: last-third minus first-third changes in al probability differences from 2x2 tables; positive values mean the predictor increases the response. Stars are Fisher exact tests with FDR correction. D: Pearson cal significance does not by itself establish a meaningful effect size.